Volunteer Role Profile
Community Champion

Your role

As a Community Champion, you'll help raise vital funds and awareness of RUHX by inspiring support for the Royal United Hospitals Bath in your local community. By building connections with local people, community groups and businesses, and representing RUHX at local events and activities, you'll play an important role in helping us provide extra extraordinary care for patients, families and staff at our hospital.

We're looking for enthusiastic volunteers who are passionate about their local hospital and want to make a meaningful difference in their community. You'll act as a local ambassador for RUHX, sharing our story, celebrating the impact of charitable funding, and helping us build meaningful relationships across the communities we serve. Your local knowledge, connections and enthusiasm will help identify new opportunities to engage supporters, inspire fundraising, and grow awareness of our work.

What will I be doing?

You'll represent RUHX in your community as a passionate ambassador for the charity. This flexible role can be shaped around your experience, interests and availability. You may choose to:

- Build relationships with local groups, schools, organisations and businesses to encourage support for RUHX and help us reach new audiences.
- Attend cheque presentations and community events, helping us thank supporters and celebrate the difference their fundraising makes.
- Help promote RUHX events, campaigns and appeals by sharing information and distributing charity materials within your community.
- Organise, participate in, or support fundraising activities and events in your local area.
- Deliver talks and presentations about RUHX and the impact of charitable funding and support (this is entirely optional, and full training will be provided).
- Help identify new opportunities for community partnerships and local fundraising activities.
